The retirement of Admiral Von Tirpitz, who has not thought it wise to come to a trial of strength on the sea, may mean that the German fleet will come out of the Kiel canal and try conclusions with the powerful navy of Great Britain, relying upon efficiency to overcome superior numbers. At any rate a new man, selected by the Kaiser, is now in command of the German sea forces.

Attention is everywhere being attracted to the fact that England is not doing much of the fighting. The defeat in the Dardanelles was sustained by the Australians and other colonial troops, the Native Dutch have conquered German Africa, the Russians are doing the fighting in Russia and Turkey, the French in France and the Italians in Austria. Great Britain with 4,000,000 men supposed to be in the field has lost a fine opportunity for the last month to keep the Germans busy in Belgium. She seems to be looking on as an idle spectator and waiting here turn to be licked in detail.

Bell county last year had 888 births and 316 deaths. Christian had 782 births and 689 deaths. In Perry there were 615 births and 91 deaths and in Jackson 476 births and 69 deaths. Other mountain counties made equally good showings. Jefferson with 4,899 births and 4,314 deaths and Fayette with 910 births and 1,131 deaths have the highest death rates, Fayette having more deaths than births. The high rate of Fayette, Jefferson and Christian is due in part to the State hospitals where many old and infirm people die every year whose homes are in other counties.

Adopts a Catholic Priest.

New Orleans, March 17.—It has been known here that Mrs. Louise C. Thomas, 73 years old, and reputed to be one of the South's wealthiest women, has adopted as her son and heir, Father Peter Scotti, formerly chancellor of the Catholic diocese of New Orleans. Mrs. Thomas is the widow of Stanley O. Thomas, who left an estate of several millions. The adoption papers were filed last August in St. Louis.

SWEEPING VICTORY

Only Four Precincts Fail To Line Up For Good Roads.

MAJORITY EXCEEDS 3,100
Certainty of Its Adoption Made The Vote Light For The Bond Issue.

By a majority in every way creditable to the enterprise and progressiveness of the citizenship of the county, Christian county on Saturday voted for the proposed good roads bond issue of $400,000 by a majority of 3,127. Only four precincts out of 32 voted against it and less than 1,500 votes opposed it out of about 6,100. The certainty that the proposition would carry kept many of its friends at home, but as it was the majority is far beyond the old constitutional requirement of two-thirds, although the courts had decided that a two-thirds majority was not necessary under the amended constitution.

The result will have a good effect on bond issues now pending in Todd and other near by counties. The good roads movement is sweeping all Kentucky with increasing enthusiasm, more than a dozen counties having recently voted for bonds and many others have elections coming on. The returns by precincts from Saturday's election are given in the following table:

A large concourse of sorrowing friends accompanied the remains to the last resting place and there were many beautiful floral offerings.

MANY PLEAS OF GUILTY

Circuit Court Cleared Its New Docket In Short Order Friday.

NO COURT ON SATURDAY
Business Resumed Yesterday—Grand Jury Still In Session.

A surprise was sprung in Circuit Court Friday when 6 of the newly indicted defendants in commonwealth cases entered pleas of guilty and their several cases were rushed through as fast as the two juries could handle the cases in quick succession.

Niek Quarles, col., was indicted on four counts for burglary, and in each of the cases received a sentence of 2 years and a day, making 8 years and 4 days.

John Frazier, grand larceny, got one year.

Preston Mayes, housebreaking, one year.

Joe Blanton, housebreaking, one year.

Robert Barker, petit larceny, three months in jail.

Joe Crutchfield, carrying a concealed deadly weapon, $50 fine and 10 days in jail.

Lucian Clark, same, $50 and 10 days in jail.

The case against Joe Burkes, for killing a dog belonging to W. M. Dockery, resulted in a fine of $50 and costs.

Jack Gouhot, a white man of this city, was tried on a charge of grand larceny and was acquitted.

W. S. Sims, who lost his suit for $8,000 damages against the L. & N. railroad company, has filed a motion for a new trial.

Judge Hanbery adjourned Court Friday until Monday to let everybody vote in the election Saturday. The grand jury was allowed to take a vacation, but all hands were back at work yesterday.

DR. HARRISON IS NO MORE

Aged Scholar Suddenly Called While on a Visit to Greensboro.

WAS LOVED BY EVERYONE

Was a Gallant Soldier, a Preacher and an Educator.

Rev. Dr. Edmund Harrison, for thirteen years President of Bethel Female College, died suddenly Sunday morning at Greensboro, N. C., at the home of one of his sons. Dr. Harrison was operated upon last September for a chronic bladder trouble, his condition being almost hopeless at that time, but he recovered and his health became much better and he had spent most of the winter in Greensboro. Recently he had been troubled with an affection of the heart and it is supposed this caused his sudden death, as his daughters here had not been advised of his illness.

REV. DR. HARRISON.

Dr. Harrison was born in Virginia, Feb. 17, 1837, and was a little past his 79th year. He served throughout the war as a Confederate soldier and adopted teaching as his profession when peace returned. For many years he was professor of Latin in Virginia colleges and was prior to coming here connected with Richmond College. He came to Hopkinsville in 1896 as President of Bethel Female College and remained until June 1909. During the 13 years he was here the College enjoyed a standing for scholarship and a high standard of merit never surpassed at any time in its long career. It was noted for its culture and for its elevated tone of refinement and christianity.

Dr. Harrison is survived by his wife, who was Miss Kate Steger, and their eight children, four sons and four daughters, viz: Wm. H. Harrison, Louisville, Ky.; Jno. S. Harrison, Richmond, Va.; Dr. Edmund Harrison, and Roger W. Harrison, Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. J. W. Downer and Mrs. Thos. S. Knight, of this city, and Mrs. H. D. Hoge and Mrs. D. H. Rucker, of Richmond.

Mrs. Knight left Sunday for Richmond but Mrs. Downer, who has been ill, was not able to go. The body was taken from Greensboro to Richmond and the funeral will be there today.

Dr. Harrison's last visit here was from October 1914 to May 1916. He was greatly beloved by a host of friends here. During the time he lived in Hopkinsville he was teacher of the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist church, and a committee was named by the class Sunday morning to prepare resolutions of respect to his memory.

Personally Dr. Harrison was a man of striking presence. Tall and erect as an Indian, always a Chesterfield in courtesy, highly educated and widely informed on all subjects, he was a typical old time Virginia gentleman. As a soldier he was as brave as Caesar, as a christian he was a shining example of true christianity, as a scholar he possessed a mind of great strength stored with a wonderful accumulation of knowledge, as a minister he was fervent and zealous in the Master's cause and in prayer he was gifted as few men are.

The United States shipped 678,443 horses and mules, worth $131,914,000 to Europe for the allied armies in the last year and a half, according to export figures assembled in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

RUSSIANS ON EAST FRONT

Fighting Around Verdun Has Become Much Less Severe.

FRENCH TORPEDO SUNK

Aviators Drop Bombs on German Trenches and Depots Near St. Mihiel.

With the slackening of the fighting around Verdun, the Russians have started a big offensive movement against the Germans on the eastern front.

A raid by German seaplanes on the east coast of England and by French airmen on Metz and other German towns, the sinking of a French torpedo boat destroyer by a submarine in the Adriatic and the reported torpedoing of an Austrian hospital ship by an entente under-water boat are recorded in official and unofficial communications.

Berlin chronicles an attack of great violence by the Russians around Driswinty like and Lake Narocz, but says the Russians were repulsed with great losses, 9,270 Russian dead having been counted in the Lake Narocz region.

Saturday the Germans in the Vaux-Damloup sector, northeast of Verdun, began another spirited attack against the French, but the French, bringing their curtain of fire into play, drove the Germans back. The attack was not pushed again during Sunday, and only intermittent bombardments took place.

Five French aircraft dropped bombs on Metz, ammunition depots near Chateau Salins and the aerodrome at Dieuze, while twenty-three other machines attacked the aviation camp at Habsheim and the freight station at Mulhausen. In battles in the air which followed, the Germans and the French each lost three or four machines. A German airship attacked the entente allied fleet south of Saloniki, but with what result Berlin does not say.

The officers and forty-four men of the crew of the French torpedo boat destroyer Tenaudin were lost when a Teutonic submarine sent the vessel to the bottom in the Adriatic.

In a raid by four German seaplanes over Dover, Ramsgate and Westgate at least nine persons were killed and thirty-one injured. One of the seaplanes was brought down thirty miles at sea by a pursuing British aviator. The German observer was killed.

The German admiralty officially denies that a German submarine was responsible for the sinking of the Dutch passenger steamer Tubantia.

GET IN TO-NIGHT

Or You Can't Become an Owl at the Reduced Rate.

Nearly all men in the cities and larger towns these days are members of one or more of the different fraternal orders. "There's a reason," and the wise man is not slow to discern it. All the orders have inducements peculiar to themselves, the newer orders, with the passing of the years, find many things to offer that the older ones did not "catch on to" when they organized. One of the new ones is the Lodge of Owls, now in its third year here. To-night they offer a reduced rate for new members, $2 only, but to-night is the last opportunity for you to get into the big hoot this year. A large number will be initiated and quite a number of dropped members will be reinstated.

BIG INCREASE.

Income tax returns for the year will show an increase of $20,000,000 for the year, according to telegraphic advices received in Washington.

Carranza is said to be planning a vigorous campaign against Zapata in the southern part of Mexico. He is about as troublesome an obstacle to permanent peace as Villa.

Three British airmen, Lieutenants Johnstone, Beaumont and Laidlaw, were killed Friday in accidents while on experimental flights. Lieutenants Johnstone and Beaumont were killed on the east coast of Scotland, and Lieutenant Laidlaw at the Hendon aerodrome.

Carranza's general has notified Gen. Pershing that permission has not been given Americans to occupy the City of Casas Grandes. Americans will no doubt look for Villa in cities as well as in the hills. Perhaps Carranza's next requirement will be that the bandits when found be shot with salt instead of bullets.

Buns.

One pint milk, one ounce yeast, one-half pound flour, one teaspoonful sugar; rub the flour through a sieve, cream the yeast and sugar together and add lukewarm milk; strain this mixture into the flour and beat well. Cover the basin with paper and set in warm place (on the fender) to rise for one hour. In another basin put 1½ pounds of flour, one-quarter pound butter, two ounces candied peel, two eggs, one-quarter pound saltanas or currants, one-quarter pound sugar. When the sponge in the first basin has risen, heat in all the dry ingredients from the second basin with two eggs. Thoroughly mix and heat them for about five minutes. Set this sponge to rise again for about 1½ hours. Then shape the mixture into buns and bake on a greased tin for one-half hour. When cooked and while still hot brush them over with a little milk and sugar to glaze them.

Fine-Grained Cake.

Have mixing bowl warm and the chill taken off the milk. Use finest grade granulated sugar. Use measuring cup and follow directions carefully. One-third cupful butter, three-fourths cupful sugar, two eggs, one-half cupful milk, one and one-half cupfuls bread flour sifted before measuring; return to sifter and add two teaspoonfuls cream tartar and one of soda. One teaspoonful lemon extract. Soften butter, add sugar and stir just enough to blend, add well-beaten eggs, and beat until light colored. Stir in milk, then sift in prepared flour and beat at least five minutes to make fine grained. Add flavoring, bake in a slow oven.

Chocolate Rice Cream.

Wash the rice (Carolina rice of good quality) and cook gently in milk with a piece of stick vanilla and some sugar until thoroughly swelled and tender. Remove the vanilla. When cool stir in enough cream to make the rice like a thickish, lumpy looking custard. Place in custard glasses and scatter powdered chocolate over. To four ounces of rice allow one and three-quarters pints of milk and four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Use a double milk saucepan and cook long and slowly.

To Prevent Cheese Hardening.

The addition of a raw egg to the mixture of grated cheese and cream for cheese wafers prevents the cheese from hardening when cold. My plan is slightly to butter crackers, or dip them in melted butter, place in pan and put a spoonful or more of the cheese mixture upon each one. Sprinkle with paprika and place in heated oven after turning off the gas. They are delicious hot, and are good cold, and can easily be reheated.

LEARN WAY TO MAKE LIVING

Good Advice for All Women Was That Tendered at Women's Club at Pittsburgh.

A woman of wealth, but who is nevertheless identified with elvish work and is a practicing lawyer, lately gave a talk before a Pittsburgh mothers' club. Here is a part of what she said:

There is one question to which every woman ought to be able to answer. Yes, it is this: "Can you earn a living if you should need to do?"

If there is one lesson more than another that has been emphasized in recent years it is that the untrained suffer most when a pinch comes. Another lesson that is most sufficiently understood is that there is practically no security in fortune.

Be prepared, is advice for a woman as well as for a nation. Train your daughters, you mothers, to something that will pay a return sufficient at least for a livelihood. It can do no harm, and it may mean just the difference between happiness and misery in later life.

There is nothing more pathetic than the sight of some unfortunate woman, brought up to a competency and utterly unprepared to support herself, who has been suddenly reduced to poverty. We all know some such woman. Pottering along at things that are of no real use, at work given by pitying friends or strangers, more or less dazed by contact with a world that is foreign to her, sinking little by little to meaner surroundings and more desperate makeshifts, she at last disappears, sucked under in the maelstrom she has neither the strength nor the training to resist.

Surely you don't want to run even the faintest chance of becoming such a derelict, you don't want your daughters to run any such risk. So be prepared. Be fit for something, trained to something, ready to take hold if you must. Know at least one thing so well that people will be glad to pay you for doing it. Be able to say Yes if the world should ask you if you can return fair value for a living. It is the surest of human safeguards.

She Broke Down Entirely.

Lantz, W. Va.—Mrs. Tebe Talbot, of this place, says: "I had been troubled with womanly ailments for some time, and at last I broke down entirely. I got so weak I could scarcely walk across the room. Thanks to Cardui, I improved right off. Now I do my housework, and am feeling well." During the past 50 years, more than a million women have been benefited by taking Cardui. You must believe that Cardui will help you, too, since it helped all these others. Cardui is a safe harmless, vegetable remedy, of positive, curative merit, for women. At drug stores. Try one bottle. It will surely help you.—Advertisement.

A Woman Among the Glaciers.

A woman, Dora Keen, has dared what no men have tried to do since 1794, piloting an expedition on a glacier trip from Valdez on the southern coast of Alaska to the Harvard glacier at the head of College fjord, in Prince William sound. She was guide for a party of three men. The first risk was from the ice falling from the ends of the glacier, and after escaping death there they climbed to the surface of the glacier. It took nine days to advance seven miles, and on the ninth day they passed the fuel line. One day it took three hours to travel a quarter of a mile. The party traveled over deep crevasses, some open, some deeply veiled with snow and some bridged with slippery ice bridges. A fall into one of these chasms was likely to be fatal. The men carried packs that weighed 60 pounds, and Miss Keen's weighed 25. These packs and the ice axes that each carried made jumping difficult. Miss Keen says that the beauty of the mountains repaid for the lack of comforts.

Winter Morning Glories.

If you wish to make your dining room more cheerful on winter days, put five or six morning glory seeds in a small flower pot (one a nice size for the table) and when they come up make a small rack for them. With a little care in watering and twining them around the rack you soon have a pretty little plant. There will be from one to five blossoms on it every morning, which will look wonderfully bright and cheerful on the breakfast table on cold winter mornings. When the sun is not too bright they sometimes stay out all day. They seem to stand the cold well, as they are not easily frozen.

The Electromagnet in War.

The electromagnet has long been used by surgeons to extract splinters from the eye. It has not proved so serviceable when its use has been extended to other parts of the body. In the present war surgeons found that deep-lying fragments of shrapnel are literally torn out by the magnet, with the result that gaping wounds are produced which are difficult to handle. For that reason army surgeons, in Germany, at least, prefer to restrict the use of the electromagnet to those cases in which the steel splinters lie very near the surface.—Popular Science Monthly.

Dangers of Drift.

Drift is best when we are hot and perspiring, just as they are most dangerous and the result is Neuralgia, Stiff Neck, Sore Muscles or sometimes an attack of Rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness and pain leaves. These suffering from Neuralgia or Neuralgic Headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth and quiet rest and sleep is possible! Good for Neuritis too. Price 25c. at your Druggist.—Advertisement.

A Fee-sible Plan.

Wife (anxiously)—"Is there no way you can see for raising money for our trip?" Doctor (glumly)—"None, unless I can persuade that rich old boob he has appendicitis."

For Your Child's Cough.

If your child has a cold, nose runs or coughs much get a small bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. Its pleasant Pine-Tar-Honey syrup, just what children like and just the medicine to soothe the cough and check the cold. After taking, children stop retching, sleep good and are soon entirely well. ## FIRE IN A TIN SHOP

Early Sunday Morning Blaze
Does Damage to Extent of $5,000.

FINALLY UNDER CONTROL

E. H. Hester, Contractor, on Second Floor, the Heaviest Loser.

Fire of unknown origin, which occurred here about 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning in the large brick building on Virginia street, between the Odd Fellows building and Eighth street, caused a loss of several thousand dollars. The fire department arrived in a very short while after the alarm was turned in and did excellent work, getting the flames under control and confining the damage to a small area.

The building was owned by Baylor Hickman, of Louisville, and his damage is probably $2,000.

Adwell Brothers' tin shop was considerably damaged. Their loss is about $500 and is covered by insurance.

Frank Boyd's harness shop was badly damaged by water. Mr. Boyd had no insurance.

James Ferguson's job printing establishment was considerably damaged by water and smoke. His loss is partially covered by insurance. Machinery in Mr. Ferguson's office, owned by E. W. Clark, was damaged to a considerable extent and he had no insurance.

Tandy & Fairleigh's office was damaged by smoke and water but their loss is small.

The Odd Fellows' building, adjoining, was damaged to the extent of probably $100.

E. H. Hester, contractor and builder, who occupied nearly all of the second story of the building, was the heaviest loser among the occupants, his loss being about $1,500, with only six or seven hundred dollars insurance. His loss included office and fixtures and much lumber which was stored in the rear of the office. Considerable difficulty was experienced in extinguishing the flames in the lumber pile.

Fearing that the fire might spread to Gee's livery stable, just across the street, all of the horses and vehicles in the building were removed, but the flames were confined to the building in which the fire originated.

A good horse belonging to Mr. Will Golladay, of Roaring Spring, was also in the stable and when brought out, in an effort to escape, slipped and fell, breaking one of his legs.

PRINCESS WEDNESDAY

ERNEST GLENDENNING IN "THE SEVENTH NOON"
FIVE ACT MUTUAL MASTERPICTURE

Mutual Masterpicture DeLuxe presents Ernest Glendenning in "The Seventh Noon," a romantic story of love and intrigue. A play of today.

REX TO-DAY.

Donald Brian, the man who made the "Merry Widow" famous, will make his photodramatic debut in the Jesse L. Lasky picturization of Harold MacGrath's popular novel, "The Voice in the Fog."

Mr. Brian sprang into fame over night, when "The Merry Widow" was produced, by his wonderful performance of Prince Danilo, and since that time, has been one of the most popular stars on the American stage.

In "The Voice in the Fog," the Lasky Company has given him a splendid opportunity to show his wonderful dramatic ability and cleverness. As a young Lord who has spurned his title and is about to be arrested for the theft of his own family heirloom, he is confronted with many unusual and complicated situations.

In the cast supporting Mr. Brian, are such well-known artists, as Adda Gleason, Frank Connor, George Gebhardt, Ernest Joy, Florence Smythe, and other members of the Lasky all-star stock company.

THE MODERN TREND.

If Father Noah lived today
And it began to rain,
He would not build an ark;
He'd build a hydro-aeroplane.

If wicked Nero lived today,
And Rome began to burn,
He would not play a violin,
A phonograph he'd turn.

If Ben Hur lived with us today,
No chariot he'd ride;
He'd buy a 90-horse-power car
To win his fame and bride.

If poor old Jonah lived today
He'd find the travel finer;
Instead of riding in a whale
He'd try an ocean liner.

If Mother Eve lived here today,
She'd surely have to smile;
She would not change her mode of dress,
And she'd be right in style.

"HUSBAND" A WOMAN HID SECRET FOR YEARS.

Seattle, Wash., March 16.—Arrested under the "lazy husband" law for failing to provide for his "family" and convicted, Robert Gaffney turned out to be a woman.

His wife, Margaret Gaffney, seemed to be the most astonished person of all when the discovery was reported to Otis Brinker, justice of the peace. She had believed her husband to have acted rather peculiar, she admitted, but had never suspected "him" as a woman.

Mrs. Gaffney has three children by a former marriage. They were married three years ago in Spokane. Two months ago "he" deserted and, after the destitute circumstances of Mrs. Gaffney and the children were reported to the charity organization society, a "lazy husband" warrant was secured. "Mr." Gaffney was arrested. Then "Mr." Gaffney decided to reveal "his" real sex, and at 1:30 in the afternoon "Mr." Gaffney, in a woman's dress, appeared before Justice Brinker to have the conviction set aside.

CARRANZA CONSUL KILLED

Brave Envoy Told Bandits
That Women Were Mexicans.

El Paso, Tex., March 17.—Jose Pereyra, Carranza consul at Columbus, who was killed by the Villa raiders, met death trying to save the lives of American women, according to a story told by Mrs. W. L. Ritchie. Mrs. Ritchie's husband ran the hotel at Columbus and was shot to death by the Villa raiders.

"When the bandits broke into the hotel," she said, "with my daughter and some other women, I ran into a corridor from our bedrooms. We were joined by Pereyra, who stepped in front of us and the Villa men rushed up the stairs, and called out: 'Don't shoot; we are all Mexicans here.' The bandits seized the women and dragged them into the light one by one, saying each time to Pereyra: 'Is this one a Mexican?'"

"Pereyra bravely insisted we were and should not be molested, but it was easy for the murderers to see he was lying. The American soldiers were coming up, and the raiders fled, but they dragged Pereyra with them, kicking and abusing him. As his body was found some distance over the border, I suppose they first intended to make him a prisoner, but when the pursuit of the Americans became too hot they shot him down and left him lying in the brush."

BUGGY IS OVERTURNED

Occupant Caught Under Vehicle and Sustains Painful Injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Word, Sr., of Beverly, were the victims of an accident Saturday afternoon which resulted in the former sustaining a broken collar bone and the latter a fracture of one of her arms. They were returning from a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Cherry, in the same neighborhood. Mrs. Word was driving and as they passed through a gate, in some manner the reins became crossed, causing the horse to suddenly wheel around and the buggy was overturned. Both were caught under the vehicle, sustaining most painful injuries, as above stated. The fractures were reduced by a surgeon and the victims of the accident are getting along as well as could be expected.

LIGHTER WORK FOR AGT HOOE

L. & N. Railroad Increases
Its Office Organization
Here.

TWO AGENTS IN FUTURE

John C. Hooe Will Devote
All of His Time to the Freight Branch.

The increasing freight business of the L. & N. Railroad has made it necessary for the Agent John C. Hooe to give his entire time to this branch of the business, thereby releasing him from the supervision of the ticket office.

JOHN C. HOOE.

Mr. Hooe has been the agent here for fourteen years and his genial personality has been one of the L. & N.'s strongest assets. The traveling public will be grieved to know that they must in the future do business with some other official, no matter how efficient he may be, for Mr. Hooe's long service has been characterized by the utmost efficiency, always obliging, painstaking and patient. His personal interest in patrons of his road has endeared him to the traveling public as no other local agent has ever been. His genial presence will be missed, but the public is assured that the new agent, Mr. T. S. Woosley, has been trained under Mr. Hooe's eye and has been repeatedly promoted for his efficiency and uniform courtesy in dealing with the public. The successor will prove a worthy one. Mr. Woosley has been ticket clerk for the last two years and knows what the public wants and Mr. Hooe bespeaks for Mr. Woosley the kind consideration the public has so generously given him in the past. Now that his entire time will be given to the freight departments, he expects to serve the public even better in the future than heretofore.

PURELY PERSONAL.

George Harlow, of Nashville, spent Sunday here with his mother.

James Nourse, of Kansas City, Mo., is visiting relatives here.

CONFEDERATES ATTENTION!

POULTRY

HAVE CLEAN NEST MATERIAL

Percentage of Dirty or Soiled Eggs May Be Materially Reduced by Proper Management.

Poultry keepers may easily reduce the percentage of dirty or soiled eggs, and losses entailed to insignificant figures. First, an ample number of nests is, of course, necessary, but an ample number means no more, than, and probably not as many as, are usually directed by poultry writers. Laying houses are, as a rule, provided with a sufficient number, but where the keeper falls down is in failing to supply enough nesting material and floor litter.

Obviously the nesting material must be clean, or the eggs become soiled by contact, and it must be sufficient in quantity, or the eggs are often broken by dropping upon the hard floor of the nest.

In houses where the dropping-boards are above the nests, and the custom is to sand the boards, small stones often drop into the nest and breakage results when newly-laid eggs fall upon them. The condition of nests should be noticed daily, and the nesting material replenished when necessary. Plenty of nesting material prevents breakage and insures clean eggs.

An ample and clean litter on the floor is also very essential when an A-1 clean product is sought. Particularly is this true when the hens are allowed outdoors during wet weather. The litter acts as a food mat for the hens on their way to the nests.

Clean eggs bring better prices than dirty ones.

MAKING A CHEAP TRAP NEST

Simple and Satisfactory Device Can Be Constructed From Orange Box at Small Expense.

Here is a trap nest that can be made from an orange box for less than $1, writes Thomas Mayberry of Pennsylvania in Farm and Home. The box is 24 inches long, 12 inches wide and 12 inches high. It is shown ready for the hen to enter. When she treads on the platform, C, to go to the nest she closes the door, A, behind her and her weight will not let her out. B is made one by one-fourth inches, with two small screws to fasten it on each side to the platform, seven and one half inches from screw to steel rod X. A is the door covered with one-half inch wire netting. The platform is held off the bottom by wire staples and rod X goes through it. A, the door, has staples for the rod to go through, as shown at the tip, and one inch from that is where the screws hold. D is a partition three inches high to keep the nesting material in place.

VENTILATION FOR HENHOUSE

Reason Given for So Many Apparently Healthy Fowls Dropping Dead Off Their Roosts.

It has been proved by experiments that impurities given off from the lungs of one animal are much more poisonous to another animal than they are to the animal giving them off.

You can prove this for your own satisfaction, if you care to. Put a mouse in a self-sealing fruit jar and make the cover tight. In a few minutes he will begin to show signs of suffocation. Then without admitting any more fresh air than you can help, introduce a second mouse into the jar. This second mouse will die before the first one, though he was fresh when the first one was nearly suffocated. The reason for this is that the second mouse did not die of suffocation, but was killed by the poison given off from the lungs of the first one.

It is entirely possible that this is the reason why so many hens in apparently good physical thrift drop dead off the roost. The ventilation is poor and the birds become poisoned by the gases from the lungs of their perchmates.

UNIFORMITY IN EGGS URGED

Separate Dark-Colored Eggs From the Light and Keep the Different Sizes by Themselves.

It will be worth an experiment to assort eggs before selling them, by separating the dark-colored eggs from those that are light, and also having the different sizes together.

Appearance is worth a great deal in the selling of an article, and eggs will sell quicker than anything else if sent to market in an attractive manner, which adds at least one-fourth more to the prices.

ROAD BUILDING

FIXING BAD SPOTS IN ROADS

Temporary Expedients for Making Them Passable—Should Be Employed Only in Emergencies.

(From Weekly News Letter, United States Department of Agriculture.)

Temporary repairs to roads are, or at least should be, confined to emergency measures. In proportion to the results obtained, temporary work is always expensive and is never justified by ordinary conditions. Unusual conditions, however, often occur to plague the road man. For example, the closing of a main highway to traffic because of construction, repair or wash-outs may suddenly throw a heavy traffic for a short time on a little-used and probably unimproved byway. Clearly, in such a case temporary expedients are legitimate.

The most common troubles met with in a case of this kind are mudholes and ruts if the soil is heavy, and dust and loose sand if the soil is light or sandy.

On a clay or gumbo road mudholes usually cause the most trouble. As water is absolutely necessary for the existence of a mudhole, any treatment, whether temporary or permanent in character, must provide for getting rid of the water. The first step is, therefore, to dig a trench to the side and allow the water and mud to drain. If necessary, open up also the side ditches. Furthermore, remove all of the soft mud left in the mudhole. The bottom of the trench should be filled with broken stone or coarse gravel so as to provide a drain to prevent any further accumulation of water. Gravel is the best material for filling the old mudhole. If gravel is not available, use the best earth at hand, tamping it down in three or four-inch layers. If possible, spread a little gravel or sand over the new fill, which should be made slightly higher than the adjoining road surface. The best treatment of all, however, is to keep the drainage in good condition. Serious mudholes will then rarely develop.

Don't try to fill a mudhole without first draining out the water and removing the soft mud. Don't try to fill it with large stones, because if this is done there will soon be two mudholes instead of one. Don't try to fill a mudhole with sods or similar material which absorb water readily.

On an earth or gravel road ruts are best treated with the drag. Don't be afraid of dragging too often during a rainy spell. If a thin coat of sand or gravel be spread over the road surface when it has been softened by rain and then worked in by traffic and a liberal use of the drag, a poor earth road can be much improved and made to carry a surprisingly heavy traffic for a short time.

In contrast to the clay or gumbo road, the sand road gives least trouble during wet weather. On sandy roads anything that will prevent the free movement of the sand particles will be of value. As long as the road is damp, the surface tension of the capillary water acts as a binder and holds the separate grains of sand in place. All efforts should, therefore, be directed toward preventing the sandy places from drying out, or to adding some binder. The addition of clay furnishes a positive binder and is really the best and most permanent treatment. The addition of any fibrous material such as straw, spent tan bark, sago brush or pine needles is of value and, when spread on the road and covered with a thin coat of sand or allowed to work into the surface, will make an almost impassable sand road fairly good for a time. But the best way to treat a bad place, whether on a clay or a sand road, is to treat it before it gets bad. Immediate attention to small injuries will prevent later prolonged attention and extensive repairs to serious damages.

Reasonable Proposition.

A good road between every farm and market is a reasonable and worthwhile proposition.

Crushed Oats for Horses.

There is no doubt that crushing the oats fed to all horses is far the most economical way of feeding them. Any thrifty farmer can well afford to own his own crusher.

Prevent Chuck Holes.

Chuck holes in the road multiply if neglected. Each chuck makes another. Road patrol prevents the first one.

Servants, Not Masters.

Our country roads should be our servants, not our masters.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Hopkinsville People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they so often get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health will be gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease often follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, which are so strongly recommended right here in this locality.

J. W. Francis, Alleghre, Ky., says: "For sixteen or eighteen years kidney trouble clung to me. My back was lame in the morning, I felt languid and was subject to headaches and dizzy spells. Every cold I caught settled in my kidneys and at such times I had to get up at night to pass the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me in a short time. I am now feeling better in every way."

Old English Lotteries.

On October 18, 1826, the last "state lottery" was drawn in England. From the time of Queen Elizabeth lotteries had been common in this country, and at the close of the eighteenth century they had become established by successive acts of parliament and were considered by chancellors of the exchequer as perfectly legitimate means of increasing the revenue. Indeed, at the time they were abolished lotteries were contributing to the state a sum amounting to £300,000 per annum. But it was felt that the government should no longer participate in an undertaking which had such a demoralizing effect on the people, for this legalized gambling impoverished many and diverted attention from the less exciting pursuit of making an honest living.—London Chronicle.

FIGURES DOUBLE IN MEXICO

Announcer at Prize Fight Has No Trouble in Explaining Length of Advertised Battle.

In the good old days, before revolutions raged with their present frequency, there used to be prize fights at Juarez, just across the international boundary from El Paso, and gentlemen of sporting inclinations from the American side of the line attended regularly.

One sunny afternoon, as the gladiators sat in their respective corners waiting for the tap of the bell, the official announcer climbed through the ropes and, standing in the middle of the ring, addressed the gathering.

"We are now about to have the principal event of the day," he stated, "a ten-round bout between—"

"Hold on there," broke in a tall Texan; "didn't you advertise that this was to be a twenty-round fight?"

"Twenty rounds, Mex.," explained the announcer without an instant's hesitation, and went right on with his speech.—Saturday Evening Post.

Safe Subject.

"We'll have to be careful not to mention any subject that will start him off."

"What shall we discuss?"

"Suppose we talk about appendicitis? So far as I know, there's no reference in Shakespeare's work to appendicitis."

Real Conversation.

"I hope you don't indulge in gossip."

"I'm afraid," replied young Mrs. Torkins, "that I like it. Of course, I don't try to make any up for myself, and I don't care much for what my friends now and then mention. But I must say that Charley was never so interesting as he was while he was serving on the grand jury."

It's All Dark.

"A man should try to make the best of his misfortunes," remarked the philosopher.

"True enough," replied the man with a worried look. "But when an inexperienced motorist tries to change a tire without assistance, there is simply no brighter side to the performance."

Mystery.

"I've been all over the world, mum," said the tattered tourist. "For a little breakfast I'll tell you how the other half lives."

"I'm not curious to know," replied the angular woman. "I've got six children and a worthless husband, and I haven't found out yet how we live."

Jealous.

"What do you mean by 'the worst kind'?"

"There are objectionable as well as praiseworthy reformers. Bliggins is one of those who hate graft because they never had a chance at it."

Paducah Bandit Tackled the Wrong Man in a Saloon Hold-up.

Harvey Kissner, 20 years old, of 818 South Twelfth street, a carpenter, in the role of a masked bandit, met his Waterloo at 10:30 o'clock Friday night in Schmidt's saloon at Eleventh and Caldwell streets when he was shot and killed by Oscar Schmidt, the proprietor, says the Sun.

When Schmidt pulled down the mask from the bandit's face he recognized Kissner as an old friend of his, whom he had formerly worked with.

Schmidt was exonerated before the coroner's jury, a verdict of self defense being returned and there will be no charges preferred against him.

Victims of the masked bandit, who has been operating successfully in Paducah for several months, are positive that the dead man is the same who robbed them. A .38 calibre hammerless Smith & Wesson revolver, used by Kissner was identified by Al Redmon, bar-tender at Theo. Peters' saloon at 1049 Kentucky avenue, as the pistol taken from him by the masked bandit who shot and killed Dick Iseman on the night of February 2, for which Ernest Elmendorf is in jail. A .45 calibre Colt's army pistol, which Kissner had stuffed down in his trousers' belt, has been identified as a similar gun used by the bandit and such a gun as produced Iseman's death. His hands and fingers tally with those of Iseman's murderer.

Kissner entered by a back door and intimidated four men in the room.

Schmidt shot Kissner when an opportunity presented itself. The scraping of his shoes on the floor by Holland Taylor, a negro barber, distracted the bandit's attention from Schmidt, who saw his chance and pulled a .38 automatic pistol and fired into his brain. Death was instantaneous.

MAIL ORDER PROVES COSTLY TO FARMER

Iowa Man Encouraged Trading With Big Foreign Houses to His Sorrow.

Hans Garbus, a German farmer of Iowa, has discovered that the benefits which appear on the surface as attaching to the mail order plan sometimes spell disaster and has written a very interesting story of his views in a certain farm paper.

The little sermon is being circulated among farmers by retail merchants in various sections of the country. Here is a part of his story:

"We farmers need awakening to the fact that we have unmistakably reached the period where we must think and plan. I am one of the slow German farmers that had to be shown and I am now giving my experience that others may profit, for knowledge is more expensive now than ten years ago.

"Twenty-nine years ago I began my farm career. I had an old team and $50. Our furniture was mostly homemade—chairs, cupboards and lounge made from dry goods boxes, neatly covered with 10-cent cretonne by my girl-wife. We rented eighty acres. Being a boy of good habits I got all needed machinery and groceries of our home merchants on credit, until fall crops were sold. The first year was a wet season and I did not make enough to pay creditors. I went to each on date of promise and explained conditions, paying as much possible, and they all carried the balance over another year. They continued to accommodate me until I was able to buy a forty-acre piece of my own.

"As soon as I owned these few acres the mail order houses began sending me catalogues, and gradually I began sending my loose change to them, letting my accounts stand in my home town, where I had gotten my accommodation when I needed it.

"We then had one of the thriftiest little villages in the state—good line of business in all the branches, merchants who were willing to help an honest fellow over a bad year, and a town full of people who came twice a week to trade and visit. Our little country town supported a library, high school, ball team, and we had big celebrations every year.

"A farm near a live town soon doubles in value. I sold my forty acres at a big advance and bought eighty, gradually adding to them until I had 200 acres of the best land in Iowa. I then felt no need of asking favors, and found it easy to patronize the mail order agents that came almost weekly to our door. I regret to say that I was the first in the county to make up a neighborhood bill and send it to a mail order house. Though we got bit every once in a while, we got in the habit of sending away for stuff.

"Gradually our merchants lessened their stock of goods—for lack of patronage. Finally we began to realize that when we needed a bolt quickly for machinery, or clothing for sickness or death, we had to wait and send away for it, which wasn't so pleasant. One by one our merchants moved to places where they were appreciated, and men of less energy moved in. Gradually our town has gone down; our business houses are 'tacky' in appearance, a number are empty; our schools, churches and walks are going down, we have no band, no library nor ball team. There is no business done in the town, and therefore no taxes to keep things up. Hotel is closed for lack of travel. Go down to the depot when the freight pulls in and you will see the sequel in mail order packages.

"Nine years ago my farm was worth $195 an acre; to-day I'd have a hard matter to sell it at $167 an acre. It is 'too far from a live town'—so every farmer has said that wants to buy. He wants a place near schools and churches, where his children can have advantage. I have awakened to the fact that in helping to pull the town down, it has cost me $5,600 in nine years."

STILL DOUBT OF K. I. T. LEAGUE

Paducah and Cairo Said To Object to Other Towns On The Circuit.

Dr. Frank Bassett has struck a snag in Kitty League plans. Paducah and Cairo are inclined to be ugly and even say they do not want to be in a circuit including Clarksville, Hopkinsville and some of the other towns proposed.

Dr. Bassett says if they continue to show the same spirit he will get other towns to take their places. He feels certain of Owensboro, Dawson Springs and Hopkinsville. Then for the other three places, in case Paducah and Cairo still hold out, he has Springfield, Columbia and Clarksville in Tennessee, with Henderson, Bowling Green and Madisonville in Kentucky in view, and feels that he can get three towns out of these, and make a well-balanced six-club circuit.
